

ARTG-736 : Teaching and Methods: Art in Grades 6–12

A study of teaching methodologies appropriate for middle and high school students through research, practicum situations, and extensive early field experiences. Attention is given to adolescent development and its effect on creative visual development and the need for visual expression. Art health hazards, computer competencies and curriculum development are among topics covered.

Credits 3

Required Prerequisites

ART-221 or ART-222

12 credit hours of studio art must be completed before registering for this course, or permission of instructor.

Notes

Offered in rotation with ARTG-735

Studio fee assessed.

Semester Offered

Fall