

MBA-610 : Leadership and Global Communication

This course explores communication between global corporate leaders and their various constituents. Topics include leadership principles, international cultural considerations, groups and team dynamics, organizational theory, attitudes and work motivation. Both written and oral communication concepts will be explored.

Credits 3

Instructional Method

LEC

Semester Offered

Varies-Contact Prog. Director