

BUS-303 : Management & Organiz Behavior

An analysis of individual and work group characteristics and those organizational factors which allow an organization to be managed more effectively. Topics include management theory and function, motivation and reward systems, and leadership practice, with a major emphasis on business ethics and ethical decision-making. Not open to freshmen.

Credits 3

Instructional Method

LEC

Semester Offered

Fall

Spring

Summer